Community by community, United Way works to elevate the quality of life for millions of people worldwide. As an interconnected movement, United Way transcends borders and cultures in pursuit of the common good.

United Way is a worldwide movement of nearly 1,800 community-based United Ways in 45 countries and territories. We advance the common good, creating opportunities for a better life for all, by focusing on education, income and health. The United Way movement mobilizes millions to action to improve the conditions in which they live.

Unlike other non-governmental organizations (NGOs), United Ways around the world engage all sectors—public, private and civil society—at the community level, mobilizing individuals so they become the change agents in their own communities to improve the conditions in which they live. By working at the local level, the United Way movement addresses the root cause of issues that affect families and individuals. And with United Way’s worldwide network, we have the depth, breath and reach to quickly scale up with ease and create positive change locally, worldwide.

Whether it’s helping small and medium enterprises build their capacity in South Africa, investing in youth mentoring programs in Brazil or Poland, providing relief and recovery to victims of the Taiwan typhoon, cleaning up slums in Mumbai, or dramatically reducing the rate of teen pregnancies in the U.S.A., United Way is a powerful force for change—locally, nationally and globally.

Vision

United Way envisions a world where all individuals and families achieve their human potential through education, income stability and healthy lives.

Mission

To improve lives by mobilizing the caring power of communities around the world to advance the common good.

To do this we will:

- Ignite a worldwide social movement, and thereby mobilize millions to action—to give, advocate and volunteer to improve the conditions in which they live.
- Galvanize and connect all sectors of society—individuals, businesses, non-profit organizations and governments—to create long-term social change that produces healthy, well-educated and financially-stable individuals and families.

- Raise, invest and leverage billions of dollars annually in philanthropic contributions to create and support innovative programs and approaches to generate sustained impact in local communities.

The United Way Umbrella

United Way Organizations are:

- volunteer-led, nonprofit organization
- located in a geographic community
- actively seeking and addressing the root causes of key issues,
- accountable for stewardship of resources, and
- accountable for short-term & long-term results

The United Way model looks somewhat different in different locations, as founding groups adopt the essential values and activities of United Way, then adapt some features to local circumstances and cultures.

There are some features that remain the same no matter what. Our core values, shared characteristics, and common roles are defined in the United Way World Wide Global Membership Requirements, and our aspirations to excellence are captured in the Global Standards.

This distinguishes United Ways from other types of nonprofit organizations:

- We are not a one-issue organization… we address the most important human needs of our community—those which are most likely to improve overall quality of life. This can mean youth education in some places, bringing health and dignity to the elderly in others, helping those affected by HIV/AIDS, improving clean water and sanitation, and many more.
- We are not a worldwide development organization… each United Way is part of a global network, but it is founded and run by people from its home community. Decisions are made locally, resources are raised locally, resources are spent locally, and results are achieved locally.
- We are not an association… we are people from a single community who seek to promote their shared interests.
- We are not a philanthropic foundation… local foundations may address similar programs, but United Way’s focus is on improving local communities through programs in education, financial stability and health. United Way does not fund programs focused in the environment or the arts. United Ways believe these programs must be founded on a solid bedrock of those who have access to the basic needs to succeed. It is our mission to connect people to and sustain their success in those basic need areas.

Centre County United Way

Centre County United Way is a United Way World Wide member and must maintain a paid license with United Way Worldwide to hold this designation. In return, United Way Worldwide provides oversight and review regarding the quality of our fiscal and management functions, marketing and outreach materials, tested messages, free training and access to reduced cost conference and seminar training. Were Centre County United Way pay for these services, the costs would more than triple.

The Centre County United Way Board of Directors is responsible for reviewing, on an annual basis, the organization’s adherence to the UWW standards of excellence.
